AFTER THE SPOILS

Democrats Are Not Sincere In Their Pledges.

BOSS CAMPAN FOR SENATOR

Is Ambition of Party Managers—Republicans Will Not be Led Into the Trap.

Hon. Fred M. Warner, who heads the Republican state ticket, is selected as the special target of the enemies of the party in this campaign, and they are seeking by every means to create the impression that he is unworthy of the high trust for which he has been named. Two years ago Mr. Warner was on the ticket as nominee for secretary of state, and there was perhaps no other name on that ticket so generally conceded to be unassailable in its popularity. It was everywhere said that he was the ideal candidate, for whom the full party vote should be polled, and the result proved that true. Now what, we might ask, has occurred since to justify a different estimate? Mr. Warner was elected by one of the highest majorities recorded, and the record of his administration for two years is open to any who would assail it. Has it been assailed? No. Has any corruption, any dereliction, any incapacity, any fault whatever been found in his conduct of the secretary's office? None—none whatever. He has gone about his duties modestly, faithfully, intelligently, efficiently, and has given the state an administration of merit never surpassed in that office. It is not pretended to convict him of any fault as a servant of the state, and his detractors cannot deny that he has given his time and his talents to the public service, and has nowhere betrayed the public interest nor in any manner compromised the good name of the state or of the party that chose him. But, they say, he would do so as governor, and they bring forward the nonsensical and meaningless allegation that he is a creature of "the machine," and would be a puppet in the hands of unscrupulous bosses—just as the very same papers that are saying this used to caricature McKinley as a contemptible puppet in the hands of a horrible ogre labeled Mark Hanna. They asserted that Mr. Warner is in some way mortgaged and will be controlled by some such evil influences, as they continually declared that McKinley was. They show no evidence, of course, of any pledge or obligation from him, and Mr. Warner for himself has earnestly declared his absolute freedom from any obligation or implication whatever affecting his official action, other than those in the platform upon which he was nominated. The voters will judge whether the man who has a record so clean and honorable in the public positions he has filled, is likely to show himself a different kind of a man when the more serious responsibility of the chief executive is laid upon him.

Republicans in Michigan who, for whatever reason, are disposed to look with favor upon the Democratic blandishments to vote against Fred M. Warner, or any legislative candidates, should remember that there is much more at stake in this campaign than the adoption of any particular system of nominating candidates for office. In this connection the Saginaw Courier-Herald very wisely says:

"The Democratic managers' plan is to induce disaffected Republicans to vote against the Republican legislative candidates as well as for the Democratic candidate for governor. They are wise in this, according to their plans, because they know that a Democratic governor would be as helpless as a woggle bug if he were elected governor with a Republican legislature. Indeed, such a partisan division of the legislative and executive departments would defeat the purpose which they are setting Republicans to imagine is the real object of their plans. Primary reform, in fact, would have a better show were Mr. Warner elected in such case, because he has declared his purpose of signing any bill passed by the legislature, whether for local option or for state-wide adoption.

"The independent" or any other sort of voter will search in vain the Democratic speeches, newspapers, and other sources of outlying, to find any reference to the fact that the next legislature will reappoint and redistrict the state, both as to congressional and legislative divisions, and will elect a United States senator to succeed Senator Burrows, Republican. And right here is the meat in the cocoanut.

Now it is assumed that nearly every one of the Republicans disgruntled on state issues intends to vote for the Republican candidate for president. The Democrats foster this assumption, in order not to alarm the dissatisfied voter and make him suspicious of the real purpose of the Democratic managers. That purpose is not to secure primary reform, for which they care little or nothing, but to secure control of the legislature, redistrict the state and elect a United States senator.

They can secure this control only by the votes of the Republicans, who are impugned to vote against Fred M. Warner and for the Democratic legislative candidates. These Republicans, send on the national ticket, anxious for the continuance of a Republican congress, who could not be induced, under any circumstances, to vote to cripple the national administration, are in reality asked—under the guise of an alleged non-partisan state movement—to place the executive office and the legislature in the hands of the Democrats so that they may have an opportunity to gerrymander the state against the Republicans, to send a Democrat from Michigan to sit six years in the United States senate, and to judge the districts so that they may have a chance to in-

POST THE HOST.

Newspaper Men Royally Entertained by Battle Creek Man.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 4.—One of the most notable gatherings of newspaper and magazine publishers ever held in the state occurred in Battle Creek last evening, when Charles W. Post, the millionaire health food maker, entertained nearly 200 eastern and western publishers at an elaborate banquet. The menu was one of the finest ever served in the state, the event being held at the Post Tavern.

The occasion of the entertainment was the official opening of the new Grandin advertising agency, which handles the advertising of Postum Cereal and Grape-Nuts, principally. Its new building is said to be the most luxurious office structure in the world devoted entirely to the purposes of one institution.

EIGHT SKELETONS

Found at Sparta With Bullet in Each Skull.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 4.—Much excitement has been created in the village of Sparta, sixteen miles north, by the discovery of eight skeletons near the town.

The discovery was made by three young men who were hunting. They found one skeleton, and upon investigating found three more buried in the ground, and an army of men began digging over the premises.

Monday four more were found, and physicians were called, who declare that they were buried in comparative recent years. A bullet was found in each skull.

The oldest inhabitant cannot recollect any sudden disappearances or anything else to account for tragedies. The region in which the bodies were found was formerly a wild one, and it is thought that the bodies may be those of early settlers, killed by highwaymen.

The Pair Elope.

Ludington, Mich., Oct. 4.—John Cranor, a school teacher, and Helen Wood, the 18-year-old daughter of Dr. John Wood, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, are the principals in an interesting elopement, which is just now the sole topic in social circles. The couple went to Manistee Saturday and were married without the knowledge of their parents or friends, returning by rig. Both young people are well connected and prominent in society. The groom is teaching school in a rural district. The bride is a violinist of some repute.

Fleeing Thief Stealing Horses.

Blackmer lives between Lyons and Pawnee and it is believed this rig was taken by Gerald Price, the Ionia bandit, who escaped from jail here Sunday afternoon. Price is a desperado. Six years ago he got out of the Michigan reformatory here and before he was captured stole four different rigs and drove a horse or two to death. All efforts to capture either Price or recover the rig have failed.

Preferred Death to Jail.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 4.—To escape the ignominy of arrest, Foster Myers of this city cut his throat. He was wanted on a charge of stealing scrap iron, and was in hiding in the city. He was located by Detective Ralph Chapman and Deputy Sheriff Warfield. Before being taken to the jail he asked to be allowed to go to his room to roll a cigarette, when he seized a razor and slashed his throat. The injury is serious, and no hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Battle Creek Hunter Shot.

CONVICTION SET ASIDE

And New Trial Ordered in Some of Boodle Cases.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 5.—The supreme court has set aside the conviction and granted a new trial in the cases of Ald. James Mol and Garret H. Albers, convicted of bribery and perjury, respectively, in connection with the Grand Rapids water deal.

Reversal in Mol's case is due to the fact that six of the jurors were found by the courts to be incompetent, having previously found Ald. Jacob Ellen guilty on practically the same state of facts. In the Albers case the court was held to have urged instructing the jury on the question of reasonable doubt and certain testimony of the star witness, Salisbury, was held to be hearsay.

Ald. N. E. Retallick, who was responsible for the resolution, introduced another compelling the Ellis Publishing Co. to raise its three-story building six feet higher, to allow free flowage of the creek.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 5.—The legality of the practice of christian science in New Hampshire has been upheld by the supreme court of the state in a decision just handed down in the suit of Mrs. Jennie Spauld of this city to recover damages for alleged injuries as the result of treatment by Irving W. Tomlinson, a christian science practitioner, also of Concord. Mrs. Spauld claimed that Tomlinson had failed to cure her of the illness for which he treated her, and that her cure was greatly delayed by the time spent in taking his treatment. The case was decided in favor of the defendant in the lower court, but the plaintiff appealed. The supreme court now affirms the decision and dismisses the bill. In substance, the court holds that the practice of christian science is legal.

SERIES OF SKIRMISHES

Japanese Testing Russian Positions Preparatory For Attack.

COSSACKS DROVE THEM BACK

Czar Receives Full Report of Lia

Yang Battle—Gen. Sakharoff Accounts Fighting on Oct. 1, When Japanese Were Repulsed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—Official advices from the far east, given out last evening, describe a series of skirmishes on the southern front of Gen. Kuropatkin's army, the only importance of which lies in the fact that the Japanese are showing a disposition to press forward and feel out the Russian positions. Gen. Mischenko's Cossacks in every case drove back the opposing forces.

The activity of the Japanese outposts is doubtless intended to screen movements of their armies, and therefore may be regarded as precursory symptoms of final preparations for an advance, which probably will begin within a week.

A special messenger has brought to the emperor Gen. Kuropatkin's full report of the battle of Lia Yang. The messenger, who submitted to an interview, declares that the main army is concentrated at Tie pass, and that it is not likely Gen. Kuropatkin will make a determined stand at Mukden.

Twice Repulsed.

The war office has received the following dispatch from Gen. Sakharoff, dated Oct. 3:

"At dawn of Oct. 1 a squadron of Japanese cavalry twice attempted to break through the line of advance posts of Cossacks of the guard in the district between Khuankuandia and Fengliapu. Both attempts were unsuccessful. Two sotnias of our cavalry reinforced the advance posts and the Japanese dispersed.

"Towards noon the same day one battalion of the Japanese advance guard, with two or three squadrons of infantry, resumed the offensive movement against a regiment of Cossacks. The firing lasted until nightfall. Gen. Mischenko sent reinforcements to the aid of the Cossacks and towards evening the enemy was repulsed at all points, the whole line retreating towards Siakonghetzy, pursued by our cavalry."

Last Rites Observed.

Concord, Mass., Oct. 5.—The last services over the body of United States Senator George Frisbie Hoar were held Tuesday in this town, the place of his birth, and several hundred of the senator's former townsmen followed the body to the place of its burial in Sleepy Hollow cemetery. In the First Parish church a solemn service of scripture reading, song and prayer was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Loren B. MacDonald. The pastor spoke no words of eulogy, reading instead James Russell Lowell's poem on Channing. Two of Senator Hoar's favorite hymns, "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me," were sung by a quartette. At the grave brief services of burial were held and the body was committed to the grave.

Filipinos Want Independence.

Manila, P. I., Oct. 5.—The federal party has given a banquet to the delegation of leading natives of the archipelago who have recently returned from a visit to the United States. In their speeches the members of the delegation spoke in generous praise of the treatment accorded them in the United States. Each touched on the independence movement and made an urgent plea for a popular assembly at once and full independence at an early date, except Victorino Mapa, associate justice of the supreme court, who spoke in a different tone. He advised his people to have confidence in the people of the United States and to prepare for the time when their hopes would be fulfilled.

Sculptor Bartholdi Is Dead.

Paris, Oct. 5.—Frederick Auguste Bartholdi, the sculptor and designer of the statue of liberty in New York harbor, is dead of tuberculosis. He was about 69 years of age. Tuberculosis developed three years ago and showed violent symptoms during the last few months, but Bartholdi insisted on continuing work in his studio. During the last days of his work he fully recognized the fatality of the disease and began to design his own tombstone. This will show an allegorical figure holding out a laurel wreath. It was completed the day before Bartholdi took to his bed.

Sunk in Lake Huron.

Cleveland, Oct. 5.—News has been received here of the loss in Lake Huron Monday night of the steamer Iron Chief of the Corrigan-McKinney & Co. fleet of Cleveland. The boat was loaded with coal, bound from Fairport to Duluth. A storm raged at the time and the boat probably was overwhelmed. The dispatch to the firm states that the crew of seventeen men, mostly from Cleveland, were taken off the Iron Chief by the steamer Carnegie. The Iron Chief left Cleveland Saturday night.
